

NOTES ON EDUCATION.

Twenty-two ladies are now taking lectures at Oxford.

Dr. Bernhard Stark, professor of archaeology at Heidelberg, is dead.

Several native Hawaiians of semi-Caucasian blood, are on their way to England to study law, medicine and literature. One intends to write a history of Polynesia.

The new George Henry Lewes studentship mentioned in this column some time ago has been awarded to Mr. Charles Smart Roy, M. D., of Edinburgh University.

Superintendent Parker, of Quincy, Mass., says that no teacher should have more than thirty pupils, and if there are more than that number in a school a teacher from a training school should be called in.

The Choctaw Nation, which numbers about 17,000 people, has forty schools and two academies. It also pays for the college education of twenty-two students in the States. The office of Superintendent of Education is elective, and has been held by a Choctaw for four years.

The highest salary paid to principals in Boston is $2,760, the lowest, $1,320; the highest salary paid to assistants is $1,080, the lowest, $450. The highest salary paid to principals in San Francisco is $2,700, the lowest, $1,300; the highest paid to assistants is $1,100, the lowest, $600.

The lectures of the current term at Oxford are to offer nothing of any special novelty or interest. Mr. Patterson lectures on the "Early Beliefs of the Slavs and the Kingdom of Hungary," and Professor Ritter, it is hoped, will give further information concerning the Celts and pre-Celtic inhabitants of A grammar.

The male principals of the A grammar schools in New Orleans get a salary of $85 per month; in the B schools they get $80. The female principals of the A schools receive $72; in the B schools, $66. The principals, male and female, of the primary schools receive $54, second assistants $45, third assistants $35. The second and third assistants in the A and B schools receive also $45 and $35; the first assistants get $34.

President Angell, of Michigan University, says that the extension of their medical term from six months to nine months did not diminish the number of students, and so convinced are they that the public is ready for another step in medical education that they have now decided to establish a full three years' graded course. Those already entered will receive their degrees on the conditions named, when they matriculated, but all who enter after the present university year will be required to take three full courses of nine months each.

Superintendent Harrington, of Bridgeport, Conn., who says many wise things, declares that while teachers shouldn't have set times for delivering lectures with wearisome platitudes on the importance of practising the cardinal virtues, they should take advantage of the every-day experiences of the schoolroom and playground to illustrate the evils of wrong-doing and the benefits of right action and noble conduct. The teacher who is truly a teacher will always do this; the man or woman who thinks that "education" means only the cringing into young minds of a certain quantity of text-book knowledge, has thoroughly mistaken her vocation.

Professor Livering's University Lectures on Chemistry will be supplemented in the Cambridge (England) lectures to women by Mr. Math's practical course on Chemistry, to be given at 12.30 p.m. at No. 56 West Street.
